Hoopla Downgraded to 2 Check Outs Per Month

Unlike other databases, Hoopla is based on a pay-per-use model, which means Hoopla gets paid each time a patron takes out an item. With the pay-per-use model, costs are unpredictable. Each month more patrons join Hoopla, and the costs continue to rise. The service is becoming unaffordable.

Northern Lights Library System is dedicated to providing a wide range of digital services to our member libraries and cannot allocate all of our funds to one resource. We need to continue funding multiple eResources to meet the needs and interests of all our library communities.
