High Water Level Notice July 8, 2020

Due to the high amounts of precipitation received at Pigeon Lake over the past two years, the lake level has increased significantly. The lake is currently spilling over the weir, which has had the top stop log removed. Because the ground is saturated, there is little absorption of water into the ground, resulting in large amounts of runoff to the lake. The level has been increasing since breakup, resulting in some shoreline erosion. The storage capacity of the lake has been significantly reduced, which means that a very rapid increase in level could result during a torrential storm. The current level is 850.14 m ASL. The blue dot on the graph indicates the height of the top stop log of the weir (849.935 m ASL).

All residents should check the amount of clearance remaining for boats and docks in anticipation of further water level increases.
